

I am quite concerned by the Sinclair Broadcasting Group's attempt to circumvent campaign finance laws as well as equal time regulations in what can only be called a propagandist effort to swing the election in the final days on behalf of the Bush campaign. Regardless of partisan affiliation, I hope that you will support all efforts to prevent what is little more than a disguised political commercial from being offered without a proper counterbalancing viewpoint.

Were a national syndicate to force its stations to broadcast Going Upriver, a pro-Kerry documentary, on the eve of the election, Republicans and conservatives would be up in arms, and rightfully so. This is not a partisan issue. Please support the integrity of our democracy.
